SATURDAYS WRITING WORKSHOPS

Attention all writers! Join us for a workshop led by a published author!

The Craft of Romance with Nadine Gonzalez

Saturday, June 2, 2 - 3:30 p.m.
4th Floor, Room 4009

A well-crafted romantic sub-plot can add dimension to any genre. In this workshop, we'll work through the mandatory beats in romance (meet cute, courtship, darkest hour, ending) and learn to nail each one. Nadine Gonzalez started her first novel while in law school and her modern romances reflect the vibrant city of Miami and its unique mix of cultures.

Write a Compelling Lead with Solange Ritchie

Saturday, June 16, 2 - 3:30 p.m. 4th Floor, Room 4009

In this workshop, Solange Ritchie, award winning trial lawyer turned thriller writer, will guide you in the practical tools to creating memorable female lead characters that will leave readers wanting more. Covered topics will include heroic quality development, creating a dimensional lead, inner conflicts, external conflicts, and raising the stakes.

The Business of Agents and Publishing with Rochelle Weinstein

Saturday, August 4, 2 - 3:30 p.m. 4th Floor, Room 4009

Learn from an agented author the best tips for finding the right fit for you and your work and the benefits to hiring a seasoned professional. We will work on query letters and the best resources for agent-hunting. Rochelle B. Weinstein is an author, speaker, and former entertainment industry executive.

Humor, Pacing and Plot with Debbie Reed Fischer

Saturday, August 25, 2 - 3:30 p.m. 4th Floor, Room 4009

Whether you already write humor or want to add humor to your current manuscript, this workshop will give you practical tips on how to use time-tested comedy tropes without being cliché. Debbie Reed Fischer is the award-winning author of novels for teens and tweens. Debbie has a degree in Screenwriting and worked for many years as an agent for film and TV.
